Award of Bronze Star Medal II

I---AWARD OF SOLDIER'S MEDAL

By direction of the President, under the provisions of Army Regulations 600-45, as amended, the Soldier's Medal was awarded by the Theater Commander to the following named enlisted man:

DANIEL V. TAYLOR, 35112938, Technician Fifth Grade, Headquarters and Service Company, 345th Engineer General Service Regiment, for heroism at Cecina, Italy, on 5 November 1944. With utter disregard for his own safety, Technician Fifth Grade Taylor rescued two Brazilian Soldiers from their truck which had been washed from the highway by flood waters of the Cecina River. To rescue the two soldiers who were standing on the top of their already submerged truck he secured a line to the bridge and worked his way along a row of trees until he reached a point opposite the vehicle and then allowed the current to carry him downstream until he reached the stranded soldiers who pulled themselves to safety by means of the rope which he carried. By his heroism and cool thinking, Technician Fifth Grade Taylor reflected great credit upon himself in keeping with the highest traditions of the Armed Forces. Entered service from Turner Station, Kentucky.

II---AWARD OF BRONZE STAR MEDAL

By direction of the President, under the provisions of Army Regulations 600-45, as amended, the Bronze Star Medal was awarded by the Theater Commander to the following named personnel:

By General Order No. 196, Mediterranean Theater of Operations, 21 August 1945, the Bronze Star Medal was awarded to JAMES H. ANGLETON, 0117029, Lieutenant Colonel, Corps of Engineers, Headquarters Allied Military Government Fifth Army, for meritorious achievement in connection with military operations in Italy from 15 August 1944 to 16 June 1945. As Liaison Officer between the Office of Strategic Services and the Allied Military Government, Fifth Army, Lieutenant Colonel Angleton provided information valuable and necessary to the completion of the mission of the Allied Military Government in Italy. Shortly after the liberation of Rome by the Fifth Army he participated in the discovery and raid on a secret German radio school, capturing highly important German codes, card files and valuable documents which resulted in the arrest of twenty persons who would otherwise have been dangerous to Allied security. He also performed the highly tactful mission of arranging for the guarding and eventual transfer to the Vatican City of Japanese diplomats accredited to the Holy See. With the spring offensive of the Fifth Army in northern Italy, Lieutenant Colonel Angleton proceeded into each newly-captured city, compiling from former business associates valuable and accurate economic intelligence on factories, warehouses, supply dumps and key personnel to be contacted by the military authorities. His intimate knowledge of Italian commercial affairs, both in the export and import line, and his ability and discrimination in bringing valuable information to the attention of Allied Military Government as well as his consistently good advice on economic affairs, was of great assistance to the officers of Allied Military Government in carrying out their difficult mission in the industrial areas of northern Italy. Entered service from New York, New York.

TO : SURGEON, 2677th Regiment OSS(Prov)
APO 512, US Army

1. Subject officer entered this hospital, 22 March 1945, with a history of a simple fracture of his left tibia and fibula, incurred in a jeep accident near Florence, Italy, 27 October 1944. On admission, he was walking with a long weight bearing caliper and the fractures were clinically solid. Flexion of the knee was limited to about 60 degrees. He was given bakes and massage to the knee region. At the time of this admission he was complaining of hoarseness and examination of his larynx showed a small polyp on the right vocal cord. This was removed and microscopic examination showed no evidence of malignancy. He was discharged to duty 4 April 1945.

2. This officer returned to this hospital, 7 June 1945, requesting follow up examination as an out patient. He was walking without a brace but with a rather marked limp. He complained of pain in the left knee and ankle on weight bearing. Examination showed a range of motion of the knee from complete extension to within 20 degrees of complete flexion. There was 1/2 inch atrophy of the lower thigh. The left leg was about 3/4 inch short partially accounting for the limp. The fractures were clinically solid. The left ankle was moderately swollen and in rather severe pronation. Examination of his larynx showed no evidence of recurrence of the polyp removed from his right vocal cord.

3. The following are reports of X-rays taken during his two visits here:

22 March 1945, "There is a complete oblique fracture of the tibia 7" distal to the knee joint, and also a fracture of the fibular neck. These fractures are of about 5 months duration, and there is almost complete union. The general

CITATION FOR BRONZE STAR MEDAL

JAMES H. ANGLETON, 0117023, Lieutenant Colonel, Corps of Military Police, Headquarters Allied Military Government Fifth Army, for meritorious achievement in connection with military operations in Italy from 15 August 1944 to 26 June 1945. As Liaison Officer between the Office of Strategic Services and the Allied Military Government, Fifth Army, Lieutenant Colonel Angleton provided information valuable and necessary to the completion of the mission of the Allied Military Government in Italy. Shortly after the liberation of Rome by the Fifth Army he participated in the discovery and raid on a secret German radio school, capturing highly important German codes, card files and valuable documents which resulted in the arrest of twenty persons who would otherwise have been dangerous to Allied security. He also performed the highly tactful mission of arranging for the guarding and eventual transfer to the Vatican City of Japanese diplomats accredited to the Holy See. With the spring offensive of the Fifth Army in northern Italy, Lieutenant Colonel Angleton proceeded into each newly-captured city, compiling from former business associates valuable and accurate economic intelligence on factories, warehouses, supply dumps and key personnel to be contacted by the military authorities. His intimate knowledge of Italian commercial affairs, both in the export and import line, and his ability and discrimination in bringing valuable information to the attention of Allied Military Government as well as his consistently good advice on economic affairs, was of great assistance to the officers of Allied Military Government in carrying out their difficult mission in the industrial areas of northern Italy. Entered service from New York, New York.

Dear Colonel Glavin:

I send herewith a recommendation for the award of the Bronze Star to Colonel Angleton. I would have made it out for the Legion of Merit except that so much of the service was before he came with us in the Fifth Army, though I knew about it.

I would be obliged if you would process these papers and if you agree with me as to the merits of the case or if you think that the Legion of Merit could be obtained, I would be happy to give my support.

I take advantage of this opportunity to thank you again for having made Colonel Angleton available to us. I hope you can come up and see us on Lake Garda when it is reasonably cool, and when you can have a good swim.

SUBJECT: Recommendation for Award

TO : Commanding General, MTOUSA

1. Under the provisions of Army Regulations 600-45, as amended, it is recommended that JAMES H. ANGLETON, 0117023, Lieutenant Colonel, Corps of Military Police, Allied Military Government Fifth Army, be awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious services in support of combat operations

2. With a well-integrated background of ten years of experience in Italian commerce and export, Lieutenant Colonel ANGLETON joined the staff of Allied Military Government, Fifth Army, following a request for his services from the Office of Strategic Services initiated by the then Commanding General of the Rome Area Command under which Allied Military Government, Fifth Army, was operating. Well versed in the exporting and importing field in Italy, as well as with other American industrialists through his long business experience in Milan, Lieutenant Colonel ANGLETON brought to AMG a knowledge of high-level liaison which proved invaluable to the success of its mission.

Shortly after entering Rome, following service in the counter-espionage branch of the Office of Strategic Services in Algiers, Sicily and Southern Italy, Lieutenant Colonel ANGLETON learned through his former business and social associates of the existence of a secret German radio school which trained as agents Italians from Egypt and Tunis. With another officer, Lieutenant Colonel ANGLETON personally led a raid on the headquarters of the school which resulted in the discovery of highly-important German codes, card files and valuable documents. The information contained in the papers captured by Lieutenant Colonel ANGLETON resulted in the arrest of twenty persons whose freedom would have been a serious threat to Allied security.

During the administration of Rome by Allied Military Government, Fifth Army, Lieutenant Colonel ANGLETON performed the delicate task of arranging for the guarding and eventual transfer to the Vatican City of Japanese diplomats accredited to the Holy See. This was effected without incident and with the utmost tact and diplomacy.

While on temporary duty with Allied Military Government in Rome following the move of the Fifth Army northward, Lieutenant Colonel ANGLETON creditably accomplished many tasks, the success of which was brought to the attention of the undersigned. He worked with AMG police officials in gathering information on the explosion which killed thirty-two German soldiers and resulted in the retribution murder of 320 Italians. In this connection he personally interrogated the notorious Caruso, former Rome chief of police, to learn who had been responsible for the erasure and substitution of twelve names on the list of those taken from Regina Coeli prison and shot. Later he assisted in the supervision of the evacuation of the Ardentine caves, submitting a full report.

With the move of the Fifth Army into northern Italy, Lieutenant Colonel ANGLETON followed the advance of troops, providing valuable assistance with his concise and fact-packed reports on economic intelligence. He ascertained through his former associates and compiled for use by AMG valuable information on location of merchandise dumps, statistics on textile wares, hidden German warehouses, conditions of factories in northern Italy and the existence of the black market operations in northern Italy. Despite injuries suffered in an automobile accident in February, Lieutenant Colonel ANGLETON personally inspected dozens of factories in which the resumption of normal production was vital to the success of the military effort.

Through his intimate personal friendships with Marshal Badoglio, Marshal Messe, the Lieutenant General of the Realm, and past members of Italy's Secret Military Intelligence, Lieutenant Colonel ANGLETON was able to advise the undersigned on public opinion trends, policies whose adoption would be of benefit to the Allied cause, mistakes to be avoided in dealing with questionable elements and methods by which the mission of Allied Military Government could be accomplished with the least loss in time and effort.

3. I have personal knowledge of the services described above.

SUBJECT: Lt. Col. Angleton's account of his "S" Force Activities

TO: Colonel Glavin

As member of "S" Force, was in training camp near Caserta for seven days in January 1944.

Was called on "S" Force in May 1944 preparatory to our taking Rome. Embarked on L.S.T. with "S" Force for Anzio and followed into Rome just behind the Vth Army. Certain units of the German Army were still in Rome.

At the suggestion of former agents and acquaintances, I raided Villa Stuart (high up, overlooking Rome) and found there about fifty Italians ranging in age from 19 to 25. They claimed to be Italians from Egypt, Tunis and other places outside of Italian territory bordering the Mediterranean. A German motor-cycle (tractor type) was the first thing found which indicated that the Germans had been there. An explosion which I found had been placed in the gears the night before did only minor damage. Further search brought us to a pile of partly burned papers and photographs. In this pile, I found a book containing a cipher written in pencil and several blanks of cipher paper ruled in squares for use in deciphering messages.

We interrogated a number of the Italians and delivered the papers etc. to Major Berding whom I told that I was very certain that Villa Stuart was a training place for radio and for agents and probably was used for contacting agents by radio. Upon a subsequent raid on this place, a card file was found which contained names of certain agents whom Counter Espionage had been looking for and some names of agents that had been apprehended.

Eight persons were arrested and later Major Berding informed me that this place probably would be one of the most important places raided in Rome. He was surprised that I had found it, saying to me: "Jim, how did you find this place since it was not on the 'S' Force list?"

On the same morning, we raided another German supply headquarters; to do this, we passed through a line of mortars which were firing over us. On this raid we found German clothing still burning, about 40 German rifles, several spools of wire cable, etc.

From another fire, we recovered photographs of officers' ledgers and papers showing statistics on supply distribution; a box of this material was delivered to Major Berding together with information obtained from Italians interrogated. Lt. Hoff accompanied me on these raids.

TO: Colonel Glavin

I would be pleased to have a record made for my file that I was on the Anzio beachhead for a period of eight days in January and eight days in February 1944. The first trip was made aboard an "E" boat when Captain Picot took certain agents there.

I was with Captain Croze during the time spent there visiting various units attending liaison and Special Staff meetings each day and keeping in close contact with the CIC.

I assisted in the interrogation of certain agents and escaped prisoners who had passed through the German lines. I interrogated various Italians, among them was Prince Borghese. We were constantly under artillery fire during day and night and various air raids. Some of the most severe fighting took place during these sixteen days - shells fell very close to us on several occasions. One L.S.T. boat on which I returned from my first trip was hit by a shell and set on fire; five men were killed.

We underwent an air raid upon my return from the second trip and one German plane was brought down into the sea by anti-aircraft fire from the L.S.T.

I secured a portable generator and mounted it on a jeep trailer and arranged to have electric lights in the part of Palazzo

I obtained the food that he and 25 guests ate during his stay at the home of Countess Bossi Pucci.

I took him one evening to an ordinance unit (some miles from Florence) for dinner, as he had expressed a desire to have dinner with some American unit.

I stayed on this job which entailed considerable running about in the jeep until we saw him off on his plane.

Practically the same kind of work I did for General Infanti and his wife while they were in Florence.

I also secured from an ordinance unit a 2½ ton truck to take his belongings to Rome. General Infanti and family live in the Royal Palace, he being on the Crown Prince's staff.

I met Mr. Myron Taylor and wife at the airport upon their arrival in Florence and delivered a staff car to them for their use during their stay, which was obtained from the Vth Army.

I assisted with the arrangements of the Brazilian Generals during their stay in Florence.

I obtained confidential reports for General Hume on several individuals that he had requested.

I investigated the transportation problem to ascertain the number of trucks available for food transportation. I investigated the stocks of flour and foodstuffs in warehouses ready for Bologna when liberated and found them to be sufficient for one month's needs. I found that the mill in Florence could produce 100 tons of flour daily, but due to lack of transportation, enough wheat to feed Florence was not coming in. (Daily needs of Florence amount to 80 tons). We succeeded in obtaining additional trucks from ACC at Livorno whereby for the past eight days, we have received daily 100 tons, thereby creating a 20-ton daily surplus for the Florence area. Other foodstuffs were on hand to feed the population during October.

I succeeded, after visiting various ordinance units, in obtaining an M-5 portable generator which I had mounted on a jeep trailer. I obtained 300 feet of rubber covered three phase and two phase cable and superintended the making of a portable lighting system for General Hume. I obtained the light bulbs, connections, extension sockets and had the connections made by a service unit of G-4, Vth Army Rear. This portable set complete is attached to a jeep and can be taken anywhere and installed within a few minutes by any soldier of average intelligence. No wiring or tape required. Simply pressing the self-started on the generator and turning the gauge to the voltage required. The system carries 16 lights (more could be used) also a radio. Electric iron or stove. The use of this is intended for a villa or hotel rooms where there are no lights.

I had a very special type of stove made for General Hume's office and sleeping van which I will not describe here. I shall only say that it required much time to find the various parts required. I am glad to say that the General is very well pleased with the stove.

I visited Captain Abrignani's headquarters on two occasions, as well as Captain Cagiati's. I told Captain Cagiati how to go about having his jeep repaired.

I have kept closely in touch with our X-2 unit in Florence.

I have assisted many visitors of various units in obtaining rooms and other needs.

I came to Rome to meet General Hume and have been very busy taking care of his requests there. I have a good day's work in Rome to finish the things he has requested me to do.

SUBJECT: Lt.Col. JAMES H. ANGLETON, 0177023

TO : SURGEON, 2677th Regiment OSS(Prov)
APO 512, US Army

1. Subject officer entered this hospital, 22 March 1945 with a history of a simple fracture of his left tibia and fibula, incurred in a jeep accident near Florence, Italy, 27 October 1944. On admission, he was walking with a long weight bearing caliper and the fractures were clinically solid. Flexion of the knee was limited to about 60 degrees. He was given bakes and massage to the knee region. At the time of this admission he was complaining of hoarseness and examination of his larynx showed a small polyp on the right vocal cord. This was removed and microscopic examination showed no evidence of malignancy. He was discharged to duty 4 April 1945.

2. This officer returned to this hospital, 7 June 1945, requesting follow up examination as an out patient. He was walking without a brace but with a rather marked limp. He complained of pain in the left knee and ankle on weight bearing. Examination showed a range of motion of the knee from complete extension to within 20 degrees of complete flexion. There was 1/2 inch atrophy of the lower thigh. The left leg was about 3/4 inch short partially accounting for the limp. The fractures were clinically solid. The left ankle was moderately swollen and in rather severe pronation. Examination of his larynx showed no evidence of recurrence of the polyp removed from his right vocal cord.

3. The following are reports of X-rays taken during his two visits here:

22 March 1945, "There is a complete oblique fracture of the tibia 7" distal to the knee joint, and also a fracture of the fibular neck. These fractures are of about 5 months duration, and there is almost complete union. The general alignment is satisfactory in both planes. There is still a moderate degree of demineralization, particularly shown in the bone structures about the knee joint."

7 June 1945, "Films of both legs, including the knee joints, demonstrate old well healed fractures of the neck of the fibula and the m/3 of the tibia. The tibial fracture has healed with some shortening, slight anterior bowing, and some resultant demineralization of the large proximal fragment. The bowing, which was previously present, no longer exists to extent observed in the right leg. A spotty demineralization involves the femoral condyle and the patella."

MEMORANDUM

TO: Commander Halliwell
FROM: Percy S. Wood
SUBJECT: Major James H. Angleton

1. In accordance with your instructions, I spent yesterday, June 3, at the School of Military Government, University of Virginia, Charlottesville. In an extended conversation with Colonel Frank H. Hastings, CAC, Assistant Commandant, it developed that Major Angleton had failed to pass the examination at the end of his four months' course, and for that reason the school was willing to consider his transfer.

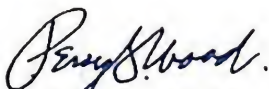

2. Colonel Hastings, after obtaining permission from Brigadier General Wickersham, Commandant, told me of Major Angleton's case in detail. He said that he (Colonel Hastings) passed upon Angleton himself when he applied for the school. He was quite impressed with him, his Italian experience, his family and his apparent qualifications. It developed, however, that Angleton's Italian was of a poor commercial brand and that he had practically no conversational ability and did not pick it up readily in the Italian classes. He seemed to lack the aptitude for the academic work, and at the conclusion of the course failed to pass the examination. Nevertheless, General Wickersham is considering giving Angleton a second examination in hopes that he would pass, for the General feels that Angleton's experience in Italy should not be wasted. I got the impression, however, that despite whatever efforts are made to put Angleton through, both the Colonel and the General feel he is not of the caliber required for a Military Governor.

3. If OSS desires to use Angleton or, indeed, any of the school graduates, they would be given to us only on loan. A string would be attached, and we would have to agree to release them at any time the school felt it had use of them on a domestic or foreign assignment.

4. Colonel Hastings permitted me to look through the biographies of a number of the graduates and current students of the school, and I saw some who appeared attractive but none who sounded outstanding. However, Colonel Hastings said he would like to confer with the Rating Board of the school which evaluates and assigns the graduates to see if they had any outstanding men who could be loaned to us pending their permanent assignment. I saw no harm in asking him to look for four or five Italian speaking and the same number of French speaking graduates whose qualifications we could consider. I asked him to send these names to you for your consideration and probably for interview. Colonel Hastings was most cooperative and did all in his power to help me with my assignment. He said repeatedly that he had a very high opinion of OSS and seemed most willing to help us.
